Letters commenting about the Greek Language

March 2018

The Bible origin series is a masterpiece of scholarship.

As a teacher of the Septuagint I was fascinated by the depth of the knowledge of Greek.

The professor is able to grasp and articulate the nuances of the language as no one else.

I am beginning to enjoy the religious teaching as well.

October 2018

As soon as I began to listen to the Bible origin series I knew who the speaker was.

This professor has collaborated with some of the giants in the Greek New Testament scholarly community.

I appreciate the fact that he confines his presentations to information which is available to the general public.

I respect his decision to remain virtually anonymous.

Above all I appreciate that he faithfully presents the simple Gospel and total grace without wavering.

No wonder people are actually saved through this ministry.

The masterful presentation of “The ‘True’ Hero with a Thousand Faces” impressed me so greatly that I listened to “The Bible Origin” series.

I listened to all 12 of them and I am in awe.

Every Christian, or anyone who is interested in the Bible, or even linguistics needs to listen to these.

I assure you, you've never heard anything like this before.

The knowledge of Greek is extremely impressive.

The presenter (who is obviously remaining virtually anonymous) has a clear grasp of the subtleties and nuances of the language.

April 2019

The powerful Kingdom messages led me to “The Bible -- Origin & Transmission” series.

I was ecstatic to find these.

I know who the speaker is.

He is the only person who could have presented these studies.

He is the only surviving member of the committee which produced the critical text of the New Testament.

Every Christian should listen to these lessons.

It may be difficult at first but the time spent will be well worth it for anyone who wants to know about the text of the New Testament and how to know what is in the text and -- what is not.

His knowledge of Greek is impressive and totally accurate.

The excellent study of right vs. left led me to explore the site and to discover “The Bible – Origin & Transmission” series.

This is a monumental presentation.

When I listened to the Septuagint study I did not know who the speaker was but as soon as I began to listen to the New Testament section
I knew immediately who he was.

I will respect his obvious desire for anonymity.

I would however like to express my gratitude for this work which captures for posterity the work of the committees in establishing the New Testament text.

I realized that this professor is almost certainly the only person in the world who would have the contacts and the background to present this vital information.

Every believer needs to listen to this.

It is a difficult issue but he has presented it in the clearest possible way.

Keep listening and it will make sense.

This is an outstanding evangelist tool
because the Gospel is presented in astonishing clarity.

The delightful studies of the angels was such an excellent presentation that I listened to several of the podcasts.

I admire the professor's facility in the Greek language.

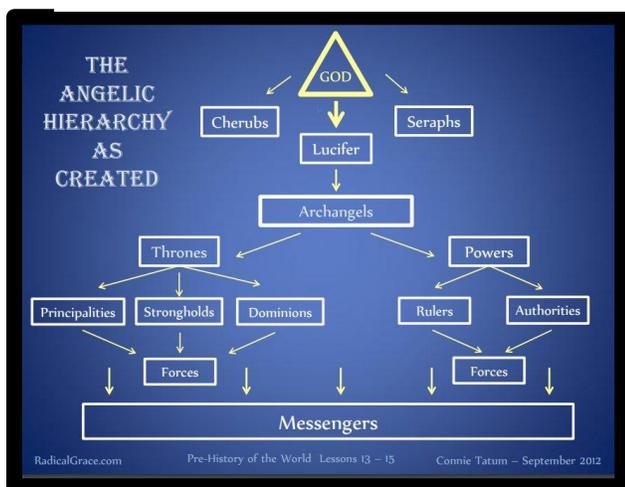

Every explanation is exactly correct.

I wholeheartedly recommend all of these studies to my colleagues.

Wonderful stories of Christmas.

The Greek commentaries are exact.

The “5 Wells” is a superb story which is presented in a clear, flowing narrative.

The Greek explanations are sublime and totally accurate.

I listened as well with admiration to the Christmas messages.

I share these studies with no hesitation.

February 2020

As I was listening with delight to the excellent study of the "5 Wells"

I became fairly certain of the identity of the speaker.

The name was already familiar to me as a man who was involved with the restoration of the New Testament autographs.

In respecting his obvious desire for anonymity I will simply offer thanks for his work – and for the only clear gospel presentation that I hear.

Your Guest commentaries on Europe 1 led me to your website where I discovered the series on

“The Bible: Origin & Transmission”.

What a masterpiece!

It took me 2 days to listen to the entire series.

There is a lot of repetition in the introductions,

but they are necessary given the magnitude of this study.

I had feared that the work of Bruce Metzger, Carlo Martini and Kurt Aland had been in vain.

This series brings their work back to life.

Your lessons are striking.

I have learned much about the world scene and about the Bible.

The knowledge of Greek is strikingly accurate and very impressive.

Athens, Greece

I was very happy to discover the “Bible origin” series of studies.

This professor is probably the only person remaining who would be in the position to know what the committees accomplished –

they restored every word of the original New Testament documents!

The scholarship is excellent, and the knowledge of Greek is superb.

Above all I am very grateful for the Gospel message which is presented clearly and simply in every study.

Kraków, Poland

The “Bible origin” series is a masterpiece.

I know that Carlo is very happy to see this.

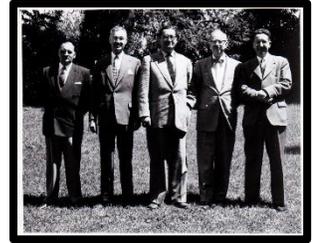

I encourage everyone who wants to know how the original New Testament documents were restored to listen to these.

It takes some work and time but it is well worth it.

The reviews are somewhat lengthy but they are necessary.

Thank you for the Gospel message in every study.

Your podcasts on art and literature were so compelling that I began to explore your site and I was very gratified to discover the Bible origin series.

This professor was involved with the committees and is in a unique position to describe the work performed in restoring the text of the New Testament.

Cardinal Martini and Dr. Metzger would be very happy to know of these broadcasts.

They would also appreciate the Gospel presentation because we hear it so rarely these days.
